Report for Engineers Day Celebration-2023

Summary Report

NPR College of Engineering & Technology organized “Engineers Day 2023” on 15.09.2023 at the Rear Block Seminar Hall. The event began with a welcome address delivered by Mr. T. Mallesh, a second-year student from the Department of Computer Science and Engineering.

Dr. J. Sundararajan, Principal of NPR College of Engineering & Technology, delivered the Engineers Day address. He emphasized the significance of Engineers Day and inspired students to devise innovative solutions to current challenges, highlighting the critical role of engineers in society. He shared insights about the origins of Engineers Day, celebrating the birth anniversary of Sir M. Visvesvaraya, a visionary engineer and statesman, to inspire students with the legacy of engineering excellence.

Dr. J. Sundararajan highlighted how engineers have been at the forefront of addressing global challenges, including infrastructure development, technological advancements, and sustainable solutions. He urged students to think creatively and innovatively, emphasizing the importance of designing practical and cost-effective solutions to modern-day problems, particularly in areas such as renewable energy, digital transformation, and smart technologies.

He also emphasized the value of collaboration, encouraging students to work in teams, build networks, and learn from peers and mentors. Additionally, he inspired students to focus on community-centric projects and underscored the ethical responsibility of engineers to create a positive impact on society.

The event concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by Ms. S. Bhuvaneshwari, a first-year student from the Department of Mechanical Engineering, followed by the National Anthem.
