Report for the Breast Cancer Awareness Programme

SUMMARY REPORT

NPR College of Engineering & Technology, Women Development Cell organized a "Breast Cancer Awareness Programme" on 02.09.2022. The students and staff members of NPR College of Engineering & Technology participated in the programme. The programme was started with the prayer song.

Ms.S.Keerthi, student of, III Year, CSE delivered the welcome address.

Ms.M.Subhana, student of II Year, ECE introduced the chief guest. The chief guest was honored by Dr.J.Sundararajan, Principal with the shawl and memento.

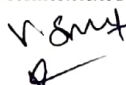

Dr.T.Jeyarajasekar, Healthcare Management Consultant, Principal for Hospital Administration College, presided over the function. During the keynote address, he discussed the critical role of comprehensive healthcare systems in breast cancer and he highlighted the following points: access to quality care, from screening to diagnosis, treatment, and survivorship support, and its essential; It's not just about detecting cancer, it's about ensuring that every individual facing this diagnosis receives the care and support they need, regardless of their background or circumstances.

Ms.P.Sujitha student of II Year ,CSE delivered the vote of thanks and the programme was concluded with the national anthem.

Outcomes:

Students got awareness about breast cancer, its prevalence, risk factors, signs, and symptoms.

The students also learnt about the breast cancer prevention, early detection methods such as self-examinations and mammograms, and available treatment options.
